Description

This book teaches the absolute beginner how to recreate the beauty of a variety of flowers from first principles. Using the six-stage process and worksheet information within will provide the reader with all the skills he or she needs to reproduce any flower they choose in exacting detail. This complete guide marries traditional technique with contemporary style and includes sections on colour, drawing, continuous tone, composition and dissection. It also contains full size tracings to help with the teaching within.

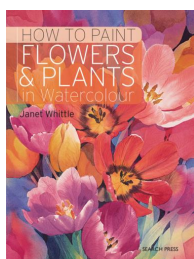

Key Selling Points

- 12 step-by-step projects – full-size tracings included
- Information on selecting, preparing and drawing flowers
- Colour mixing advice and instructions
- Packed with varied inspirational paintings

About The Author

Michael Lakin was born and bred in South Derbyshire, UK. His early learning was basic but he always excelled in art. After leaving school he moved into engineering, becoming a manager, before he left to start his own business. Michael kept up art as a hobby and began to teach classes in Botanical Art to adults. Since then he has exhibited in London and other parts of the UK. He has a purpose-built studio next to his rural home, where he teaches and gives demonstrations throughout the year.
