Description

Following the immense success of the How to Draw: Animals bind-up published in 2011 – which has been reprinted 9 times and sold over 134,300 copies alone – producing another How to Draw bind-up seemed in order. Yishan Li is a well-known and prolific manga and comic book artist, and outside Search Press has recently worked on a Batwoman annual with DC and worked on a comic book series based on Buffy the Vampire Slayer called Buffy: The High School Years. To date, Yishan's How to Draw books have sold over 10,400 copies for Search Press, Manga Chibis appearing the most popular with over 1,500 copies sold already since its publication back in September 2016. In addition, with Japanese-inspired art and craft becoming more popular, Yishan seems a natural choice as the next author to work with on a larger book.

For this bind-up, Manga Boys, Manga Girls, Manga Animals, Manga Chibis and Manga Myths & Legends will be combined to create a comprehensive guide on drawing all sorts of characters and creatures in the manga style. From kids, teens, witches and wizards, through to monsters and animals, this book breaks down the drawing process into easy steps using simple shapes like circles, ovals, rectangles and squares to create professional graphic illustrations anyone would be proud of.

At just £12.99, readers will most definitely get their money's worth with such an extensive compendium.
