Bursting with Nordic charm and elegance, and the perfect antidote to fast fashion, every garment in this book has been lovingly designed to last.

A Knitter's Year will see you through four seasons of clothes to make for your whole family; each piece is lovingly designed by the author, Ida, who is shown throughout the book, modelling the garments, along with her family, in their native Norway.

The clothes include jackets, jumpers and skirts for adults, as well as cosy winter gear for the children.

About the Author

The brand is all about creating patterns that will inspire others to knit their own wardrobe, piece by piece, using materials of the highest quality and longevity.

Ida has been knitting from a very young age, having learnt from her mother and aunt, but she found her true vocation in advanced knitting when she was ordered to rest while pregnant with one of her sons. She and her husband and their three boys now live on the Norwegian island of Engeløya.

AMELIE SWEATER

Amelie sweater strikkes i en tild Plump og en tild Finst. Det er en dekket og let overstriket gensert. Genserten strikkes rundt og rundt, for så å bli knyttet i en lukket slutt. En kan velge å strikke hele genserten frem og tilbake, det for det, med å være å kikke opp de siste mønstrene mellom dekket. Genserten er utgangspunktet er net og bare gjen, men med ekstra lengde bak og med en høy slutt som gir best opp til innhullete på lomme eller - noe som gir den en lukt stykk. Genserten holdes pent sammen med et bånd som strikkes mellom dekket i slutt. Amelie sweater er et fantastisk pent på kroppen, og sluttet blir en kul dekk på en eller enel hvetaggen.

CHILDREN'S URBAN POLAR SWEATER

The urban polar sweater is a soft, warm sweater. Instead using two strands of yarn on big needles, the neckband is doubled over in rib, making it snug and close-fitting around the neck but not too tight. The rib is practical for putting the sweater on and taking it off but is also an eye-catching detail. The sweater is knitted from the bottom up. It has a wide ribbed collar, a ribbed hem and cuffs, and a ribbed waistband. The top is sewn in by hand using one strand of double Alpaca.
